CENTRAL PENNA. M. E. CONFERENCE

Opened Its 34th Annual Session Here Wednesday.

IN NEWLY RE-MODELED CHURCH

Temperance Anniversary Drew Large Audience Tuesday Evening.—The Business Organization of Conference Completed.

FULL REPORT OF PROCEEDINGS

Reports of the proceedings as furnished by Rev. W. F. D. Noble.

The thirty-fourth session of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church convened in the M. E. Church at this place Wednesday. This being the third time with in a score of years that Bellefonte has entertained this distinguished body. This session will be a most important one from considerations which will appear in these letters.

FIRST DAY.

At nine o'clock Bishop Walden called upon this conference to read responsively the lesson for the 26th day of the month, as found in the Psalter after which the hymn, beginning "Come thou Fount of every Blessing was sung and prayer was offered by the bishop.

Bishop Foss, who was on the platform, read the Scriptures from the second epistle of Peter-first chapter.

Bishop Walden briefly addressed the conference upon the significance of the service upon which it was about to enter, namely--The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The bishop assisted by Bishop Foss, the Presiding Elders, Drs. Evans, Yocum, Black and Rev. J. Ellis Bell and E. M. Stevens,—also by Dr. D. S. Monroe, Rev. Isaac Liedy, Dr. W. A. Stephens, Rev. Richard Hinkle and Dr. Shriner, pastor of the church here, administered the sacrament.

At the conclusion of this impressive service the Conference was duly organized.

Bishop Walden called upon Rev. T. S. Wilcox the Secretary of the last conference to call the roll and 200 ministers answered to their names. Rev. T. S. Wilcox was unanimously elected Secretary who chose as his assistants Revs. Morris, E. Swartz, J. F. Anderson, M. C. Piper and Wm. Brill. Rev. Conway W. Dickson was elected Statistical Secretary and chose as his assistants Robt. J. Allen, G. F. Boys, M. S. Derstine, W. W. Shull, Wm. Armstrong, J. T. Bell and R. M. Snyder.

Rev. John Harning was elected treasurer and chose as his assistants

Altoona District, F. W. Leidy, E. E. Harter.

Danville District, Frank H. Brunstetter, O. H. Albertson.

Harrisburg District, F. C. Burgers, J. H. Price.

Juniata District, H. B. Smith, H. K. Ash.

Williamsport District, A. S. Williams, M. N. Walker.

A motion was adopted to change the rules allowing official visitors no more than ten minutes in addressing the conference. Under the old rule they were given fifteen minutes.

THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY.

Tuesday evening, witnessed the first public gathering in connection with the conference sessions of 1902. It was the occasion of the Temperance Anniversary.

A few minutes after seven o'clock Prof. Black and his choir sang "My Jesus I love thee."

For a half hour the congregation enjoyed a hearty service of song. When the hour for the service proper arrived Rev. A. S. Baldwin, of Lock Haven, took charge. He introduced Rev. Simpson B. Evans, pastor of our church at Milton, as the first speaker. He referred to the attitude of the Methodist church as one of hostility to the iniquitous business. Emphasis was put upon the necessity of enlisting the children so that they might be trained to give the deadly blow in the future.

The speaker thought it ocwardly to say we are not able to cope with this evil. It will pay the church to have the children of our Sunday Schools sign the pledge of total abstinence.

We must not wait however until the children are grown before trying to kill off this beast, with its hydra head. We must make the saloon keepers know that their business is obnoxious. We must use the weapons we have, but pray and work for better ones.

The address was an earnest plea for the destruction of this enemy of all purity and peace. W. H. Schwartz, Esq., of Altoona, was the second speaker. The speaker affirmed his belief in the doctrines of our church, total abstinence for the individual and prohibition for the state. He thought a boy can have no greater good fortune than to have a father to whom he can look for an example in right doing, one to whom he can tell his plans, whom he can trust always. Every man who wants to be such a father must be a temperance man.

As an editor he said he was constantly receiving letters of inquiry concerning applicants for positions of various kinds. The question oftener asked than any other is—Does he Drink?

If for no other reason the young man owes it to his future, his prospects for success in a business point of view, to be an enemy to strong drink. Rev. Dr. W. A. Stephens, of Carlisle was the last speaker.

He said this business is so ruinous in its results as to appall any one who seriously considers it.

It ruins men financially, currupts them morally and absolutely destroys that which is best in men. Is there anything that can be done to stop this devastation?

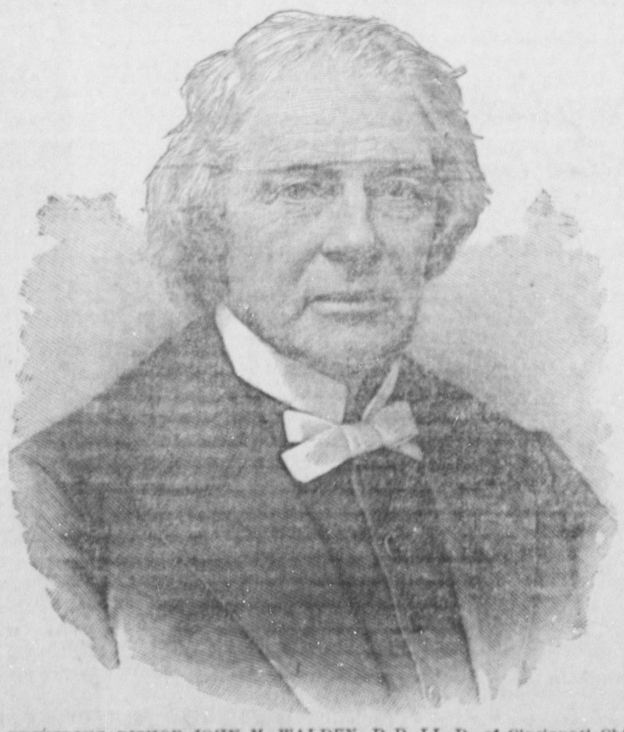
The importance of forming right habits in youth was emphasized.

There is the work of reformation that has accomplished much good, but the undoing of the evil results, does not touch the origin of the trouble. Means of dealing with the evil seem to be embraced under two heads—first restriction, secondly destruction.

Reference to the license system and local option demonstrated the failures of restriction.

The speaker thought that nothing short of total destruction, by whatever name you call it, would satisfy the demands of an outraged humanity.

Whenever the citizens of this state come to the point of demanding that the business shall be outlawed, then it will be done. We are kings here.



PRESIDING BISHOP JOHN M. WALDEN, D. D., LL. D., of Cincinnati, Ohio.

REPORT OF REV. J. ELLIS BELL, PRESIDING ELDER OF THE ALTOONA DISTRICT.

On Thursday, December 13th., our genial brother, that eminently successful and greatly beloved servant of God, Rev. L. I. Logan, after weary months of intense suffering, passed from labor to reward. As he said "good night" to the family, he remarked "I'll be better in the morning," so it proved for in the morning he was not, God had taken him to himself. Serving throughout his entire ministry as a supply. Yet always held in such affection and esteem, that he was easily counted the peer of any of us. A loving and devoted people, together with his wife, daughter and three sons, mourn their loss.

"Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warefare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last."

In Autumn, October 20th., the black messenger death, invaded the home of Brother J. K. Lloyd, of Chestnut Avenue, Altoona, and his cultured and truly consecrated wife was stricken from his side. Sister Lloyd's illness was somewhat protracted, nevertheless, the end came suddenly, and the shock to the family and friends was indeed great. For some time before her death, she seemed to know that the end was near, and her life was a beautiful exhibition of Christlike virtues. Many touching tributes of love were extended to this sorrowing parsonage home by the people with whom she was associated; the funeral services were largely attended, representatives being present from several former charges. Brother Lloyd and daughters have the sympathy of many friends,

Sore affliction has been experienced in the home of Brother G. W. McIlney, of Munson. Twice during the year, the shadows gathered and hearts shivered between hope and dispair. We rejoice in the lifting shadows and pray that Sister McIlney may be spared for years of service in her chosen work for which she has proven herself to be well fitted.

In reviewing the work of the Altoona District for the past year, not all has been accomplished for which we labored, however, we are pleased to note, that owing to the loyalty and liberality of an enthusiastic people, marshalled by agressive and intelligent leaders, an encouraging measure of success has been achieved, for which we offer thanksgiving and praise to the Giver of all good.

Ministerial support, while not in all cases adequate, has been improved in the aggregate $800. One or two of our worthy Pastors have been inconvienced from lack of sufficient salary.

The benevolent contributions, as reported to us, are fully of inspiration. Our motto for the year has been "A contribution from every member of every charge for all the Disciplinary collections" While the motto has not been perfectly kept, and there are some few blanks, still, we rejoice to report an advance for all the required collections.

The missionary spirit increasingly abounds, and $11,973 is the magnificent sum that the District gives this year for Christian Missions. Including the Womens Foreign and Home offerings, the amount is swelled to the still larger sum of $13,000. While nearly all the charges have done well, some have done most excellently. Interperting excellence to mean not excelling others, but rather excelling ones self, State College, Grant, Frankstown, Allegheny are deserving of special mention. Clearfield does well, in that she holds her own, and continues to rank first in the District and third in the Conference. Coalport and Irvona charge is deserving of credit, because of a smart advance upon the marvelous increase of last year. It reveals results possible along all lines by a united and enthusiastic people, under wise direction.

Most of all, are we gratified to report God's presence in regenerating and sanctifying power in our midst. The church has been spiritually quickened, and a desire for a deeper personal experience is manifest. Here is where we must win. It is perilous to fail. If we are strong spiritually, and the Holy Ghost dwells in the churches, no one can put a limit to the advance grounds we may attain. Some of the Pastors are sad at heart, because after faithful efforts, but little visible results are seen, while others rejoice in beholding large fruitage of their toil. 2100 souls have bowed at our altars and professed saving faith, while 1750 have become probationers. Almost 100 have united with other denominations. The places most favored by gracious revivals are Grampian, First Church Tyrone, Osceola, New Milport, Half Moon, Howard, Wallaceton, Allegheny, West Side, Warriors Mark, Fairview, Bellefonte and Glen Hope. The first mentioned having 245 and 45 conversions The prayer and class meetings in some places are too much neglected. The wise church will see to it that these means of grace, so important and distinctively Methodistic, are not left in the back grounds, for it has been truly said that "the class meetings and prayer meetings are the spiritual pulse of the church."

REV. JESSE BOWMAN YOUNG, D.D., of Cincinnati, Ohio, who lectured before the Conference Wednesday afternoon.

The children, for the most part, are conscientiously instructed, and many are numbered among our probationers. Too much care and importance cannot be attached to the work of looking after and properly training, the children of our church. "Decision Day" is more and more used in our Sunday Schools as a suitable time for special efforts looking towards having the children, who have been religiously instructed, decide for Christ and unite with the church. The results have been most gratifying. The Sunday Schools are organized into Missionary Societies with but few exceptions. A small number only close during the severe winter months in the sparsely settled localities. Our superb literature is much appreciated and but few outside helps find entrance. "Childrens Day" was observed and the educational collection well sustained. In our opinion, the Epworth League is a vital force in christian word. The majority of the Pastors are emphatic in claiming for it a growing life and increasing power. The Epworth Herald maintains its popularity as lengthening subscription lists attest. Would that they might be doubled in every charge, for it is a most efficient means of stimulating and quickening our young people in Christian work.

The District Epworth League convention was most delightfully entertained in the Columbia Avenue Church, Tyrone. Dr. Shriner, the District President, was the inspiring personality of the occasion. An unique and helpful programme was successfully rendered. Dr. Charles Boswell and Gen. J. F. Rusling delivered evening lectures in the auditorium of the First Church. The Christion Advocate is beloved by its readers and reasonably well sustained; it is, however, deserving of a much larger patronage. The Woman's Foreign and Home Missionary Societies maintain vigorous life. That elect lady, Mrs. Mary Wright, of Glen Hope, whose benefactions are many, contributes $30, in support of native teachers in the foreign field. Mrs. Levi Nearhoof, of Warriors Mark, gives $40, to the Parent Board. Her Mother, one of the excellent of the earth, who died during the year, left this money in gold, to be given to same good cause. The daughter, in memory of her sainted mother, hands it to the "open door emergency fund."

Great activity prevails in material things. On April 7th., the beautiful edifice, in which the conference now convenes, was reopened to the worship of God, Bishop C. H. Fowler, D. D. LL. D., and the now sainted Dr. William A. Spencer, preaching great sermons. J. W. Powell, of Buffalo, was in charge of the finances. The cost of improvements, including the beautiful pipe organ, the gift of Mrs. D. H. Hastings, was $14000, all of which was provided for during the day. The undertaking was heroic, but under tactful guidance of the Pastor, Dr. Shriner seisted by a judicious committee of which, F. W. Crider was the efficient Chairman; the work was successfully consumated. Of the judgment and taste displayed, we are willing that you shall render the bestowment of praise.

The new church at Patton stands on the hill, graceful, imposing complete in all its appointments, will soon be appropriately dedicated. The Pastor already occupies the parsonage. Capable business men are back of the project, and it cannot fail. Dr. E. E. A. Deavon is the conspicuous figure in acheaving this happly consumation. It will cost, when completed, $18000. Dr. W. P. Shriner officiated with ability on the occasion of the cornerstone laying.

The new Eighth Avenue Church, Altoona, nears completion. The dedicatory services, holding over two Sundays, are fixed for May 11th and 18th. A number of distinguished Ministers, including Bishops Fowler and Foss, have been secured for the occasion. The church is a magnificient stone structure of massive proportions with rich and tasteful decorations, which will meet the demands of this strong and growing charge for many years to come. The good people of this church, by their devotion and sacrifice, have builded an imperishable monument for themselves, but the name that stands above them all, placed there by skillful service rendered, is that of the Pastor, T. S. Wilcox, D. D. A beautiful and costly pipe organ graces the temple. The kind and generous honor of this timely and much appreciated gift is that princely philanthropist, Andrew Carnegie. As it is quite probable that you will have the privilege of seeing this church for yourself, one year hence, I shall not attempt a further description of it

Our church at Morrisdale Mines has been enlarged and modernized at a cost of $2,500. It was successfully re-opened on March 2ad, the pastor, N. H. Smith, preaching the sermon. The church is a gem, and is an exhibition of what a congregation, the most of whom are miners, can do when they set themselves to the task. The modest pastor states that J. E. Hedding and L. A. Pritchard are entitled to the places of highest honor in connection with this wonderful achievement. The money is all in sight and no debts are reported. Rev. W. H. Lingenfelter, one of our honored local preachers, who organized this church, was present and preached at night. This is a model charge in every sense.

At Munson a new parsonage has been built and furnished, costing $1,200, on which $450 have been paid. On August 3rd the church was burned to the ground. It wat insured to the amount of $1,700 in the National Mutual Church Insurance Company of Chicago, and said insurance being promptly paid this heart-broken people were enabled to rebuild at once. A much better church has been erected on the site of the old one and will be ready in a few weeks for dedication. This struggling charge is deserving of the success it has achieved. The pastor, G. W. McIlnay, has been abundant in labors. Revs. C. W. Rishell and N. H. Smith very acceptably officiated at the corner stone laying.

At Kreamerville, on the Penns Valley circuit, church improvements have been made costing $400, and an old troublesome debt of $150 wiped out.

Centre has placed new furniture in the parsonage to the amount of $250, much to the comfort of G. M. Simer and family.

Three churches on the Wallaceton charge have passed through the hands of carpenters, painters, paper-hangers and are strikingly transformed. Bills all paid is the cheering word received. Besides the care of these and all the churches, over 100 conversions crown the busy and successful year of Brother R. S. Taylor.

Palestine-Woodland charge has been improved and beautified at a cost of $400. C. W. Rishell is happy over the results.

They contemplate doing a very wise thing at Glen Campbell, New Washington charge, namely, buying the Campbellite church, which can be had at an advantage. J. C. Young is the watchful pastor here.

Two churches on the Port Matilda charge and two on the Half Moon appointment, and again two others on the Lumber City circuit, have been improved and greatly beautified, to the credit of the people and pastors of the respective fields of labor.

Bellwood also rejoices in the possession of a beautiful pipe organ, which greatly enhances the services of the church. This, too, is another manifest expression of the kindly heart of that great man, Mr. Carnegie.

The Pine Glen congregation of Snow Shoe hears, with great delight, the music of a new church bell, which calls them to worship in the house of the Lord.

Pastor Jacobs, of First church, Altoona, rejoices in $1,000 raised for the new church fund. The outlook for a new church in this flourishing charge is brightening.

While the past year is rich in material improvements, the good work continues, and much is already planned for the next year. Our prophecy with reference to Fifth Avenue, Altoona, has been fulfilled and a new church, to cost $20,000, is already begun. Material on the ground, excavation made, and everything in readiness for an early resumption of the work.

Pastor Leidy and his loyal people know how to bring things to pass. Toward this end a good subscription of some $13,000 has been secured.

The good people of Juniata charge are in like condition. They have a church to cost $12,000 in contemplation, with plans selected, contract let and work actually commenced. A ground breaking service was held a few days ago, at which time the Pastor, E. E. Harter, a man little in stature, but mighty in word and deed, turned the first spadefull. This energetic people are jubilant and complete success is destined to crown their efforts.

The industrial boom that has struck Clearfield has populated the East End to such proportions that the First church has thought best to build a chapel to house the Methodists who are moving into that rapidly growing section of the city. The chapel will cost $2,500, exclusive of the lots, and will be ready for use in the month of June. Dr. Foster's experienced eye keeps watch.

A new church is under way at Hannah, within the bounds of the Port Matilda circuit. It will cost $1,200, and to meet this amount $800 is subscribed. Brother E. S. Latshaw, who has shown himself to be quite a financier, is in charge of the forces, who will surely carry forward to completion this much needed work. If I have not already wearied you, under this head, may I not be permitted to add, that unless all indications fail, during the year there will be new churches, of modest pretensions, built at Winburne, on the Munson charge, and at Barnesboro and Bakerton, on the Grant charge. In aid of these last named places we greatly need help from the Church Extension Society, for this is frontier work as truly as if they were located in one of our Western territories.

Utahville charge has bought two lots for a new parsonage at Blandsburg and have $200 additional with which to begin the work in the early spring.

The reduction of debts, long standing, at Simpson, Chestnut Avenue and Walnut Avenue, all of Altoona, were heroically undertaken, and under the hard blows given by their respective pastors, assisted by J. W. Powell, they were conquered and will soon disappear. Brother Lloyd, however, made bold to attack his foe sin-

IT LACKED NOVELTY

A COLLECTION OF HEIRLOOMS THAT WEARIED AN OSSERVER.

The System of Renting Out Family Glory and Supplying Ancestral Trappings at So Much Per Hour Has Its Drawbacks.

Two guests were being shown through a Philadelphia mansion in which a neuveau riche broker was entertaining a party of fashionable friends. The splendid array of family heirlooms, all bespeaking a lineage of earliest colonial origin, deeply impressed one of the party. He was a stranger but lately arrived from Baltimore. Oddly enough, his companion, a Philadelphian, seemed flippantly indifferent to these treasured relics of a family's honored history.

"Remarkable collection of heirlooms our host has," remarked the stranger as he stopped before a battle scarred sword of Revolutionary days.

"Yes," drawled the Philadelphian cynically, "very interesting. But unfortunately it lacks the charm of novelty for me. Already this season I've seen the same batch of relics in three other Philadelphia houses."

"How could that be?"

"Oh, simple enough. It only means that all four families, our host and the three others I refer to, hired their ancestral trappings from the same man."

"Hired them?"

"Yes, hired them. We have in this city an enterprising collector of colonial junk who makes a business of renting out family glory to all who were unfortunate enough to be born without it."

"Whew!" was the only comment the astonished Baltimorean could utter.

And doubtless many Philadelphians would be moved to say "Whew!" If they could learn how many members of the Quaker City social elect are constrained to seek the assistance of the heirloom dealer when they wish to give a brilliant function.

It is a deception that is forced upon them, for unless you have distinguished appearing forbears you stand little chance of penetrating the sacred precincts of the local fashionable set.

Ancestry, not cash, is the open sesame, and even if a man can claim some sort of a family tree his pretensions are questioned unless he can show some of the furniture or portraits that his American forefather brought with him on the Mayflower or the Welcome.

Of course if the two vessels named had been as large as the Great Eastern and had been loaded with nothing but heirlooms they couldn't have carried half the stock needed to launch the descendants of Pilgrim fathers into society. Hence the need of an heirloom dealer.

He has his warerooms in Pine street, in a part of the city which was once the center of fashion, but is now deserted by that element in consequence of the westward movement of the city's elect.

Ostensibly he is a curio dealer, but his revenue is mainly derived from furnishing and hanging the walls of fashionable dwellings with century old portraits.

This clever manipulator of men's vanities has ancient, straight backed furniture and copper kettles and snuffers for candles and bullseye watches and similar relics of ancient grandeur, all at your disposal for a night, when you, poor fellow, with money, but no ancestors, want your friends to know what an old family yours is! He also has rare furnishings for libraries and drawing rooms which you may rent if you have the price.

It matters not from what part of the country the applicant hails or what particular descent he wishes to claim, his needs are promptly filled.

For those who wish to pose as lineal descendants of the stanch old colonial patriots who fought the stamp tax and defied the power of King George at Bunker Hill and drew up the Declaration there is especially attractive stock.

For the haughty cavalier who "came over" with Lord Delaware there are costumes and furniture and portraits of more elaborate style, as befits the past of emigrants who in England basked in the favor of the king and were participants in brilliant court ceremonials.

The Quaker City allegiance to the honored memory of William Penn is a sentiment that the curio dealer has been careful to cherish.

On his walls he has portraits of studious looking Quakers. On his shelves are modest Quaker clocks that did service in the days when the founder was exchanging thirty blankets for Philadelphia.

There are Quaker walking sticks, tinder boxes, documents on all subjects, household utensils a legion.

It is true that this system of supplying ancestors has its disadvantages. Contretemps such as the one revealed at the beginning of this article are bound to occur. The hawklike eye of a connoisseur, trained to recognize instantly the value, authenticity and history of antiques, often pierces the deception and remembers seeing the "treasured family heirlooms" somewhere else. But in the main people are gullible, and the wealthy but plebeian aspirant for social honors vaunts the blueness of his blood and points with pride to his hired heirlooms without much danger of discovery.

And meanwhile the crafty Pine street dealer smiles, waxes rich and echoes a celebrated remark of Puck's regarding the average intelligence of mortals.—Philadelphia North American.

The Hen's Plaint.

"What's the matter?" asked the rooster. "More absentmindedness?"

"Yes," replied the hen. "I can never find things where I lay them."—Philadelphia Record.

CHEMISTRY OF TEARS.

Weeping Improves the Sight Instead of Weakening It.

Tears have their functional duty to accomplish, like every other fluid of the body, and the lachrymal gland is not placed behind the eye simply to fill space or to give expression to emotion, says an exchange.

The chemical properties of tears consist of phosphate of lime and soda, making them very salty, but never bitter. Their action on the eye is very beneficial, and here consists their prescribed duty of the body, washing thoroughly that sensitive organ, which allows no foreign fluid to do the same work. Nothing cleanses the eye like a good salty shower bath, and medical art has followed nature's law in this respect, advocating the invigorating solution for any distressed condition of the optics.

Tears do not weaken the sight, but improve it. They act as a tonic on the muscular vision, keeping the eye soft and limpid, and it will be noticed that women in whose eyes sympathetic tears gather quickly have brighter, tenderer orbs than others. When the pupils are hard and cold, the world attributes it to one's disposition, which is a mere figure of speech, implying the lack of balmy tears that are to the cornea what salve is to the skin or nourishment to the blood.

Savage Legends.

The savage islanders of the south Pacific believe that the world is a cocoanut shell of enormous dimensions, at the top of which is a single aperture communicating with the upper air, where human beings dwell. At the very bottom of this imaginary shell is a stem gradually tapering to a point which represents the beginning of all things. This point is a spirit or demon without human form, whose name is Root of All Existence. By him the entire fabric of creation is sustained.

In the interior of the cocoanut shell, at its very bottom, lives a female demon. So narrow is the space into which she is crowded that she is obliged to sit forever with knee and chin touching. Her name is The Very Beginning, and from her are sprung numerous spirits. They inhabit five different floors, into which the great cocoanut is divided. From certain of these spirits mankind is descended. The islanders, regarding themselves as the only real men and women, were formerly accustomed to regard strangers as evil spirits in the guise of humanity, whom they killed when they could, offering them as sacrifices.

The Growth of Seaweed.

Seaweeds vary surprisingly in their habits of life. Some species grow altogether beneath the water, attaching themselves below the lowest tide level, other frequent heights where they are left dry at every retreating tide, while others yet are found in situations where they are scarcely ever covered by water. Whereas most of them attach themselves to rocks or solid bottom, keeping to the shallows, there are exceptions to the rule, among which the most remarkable is the sargasso or gulf weed, which floats on the surface of the ocean. Immense fields of it are seen by the navigator, extending as far as the eye can reach. It is sometimes so abundant as seriously to interfere with the progress of ships, and it was this which so alarmed the crew of Columbus on his first voyage of discovery.

Wrath Disarmed.

A little Cambridge girl was discovered whispering in school, and the teacher asked:

"What were you saying to the girl next to you when I caught you whispering?"

The little culprit hung her head for a moment and then replied:

"I was only telling her how nice you looked in your new dress."

"Well, that—yes—I know—but we must— The class in spelling will please stand up."—Christian Register.

A Skinning Process.

"This," said the fond father to the dermatological expert, "seems to be a pretty big bill for the treatment you have given my daughter."

"It was a difficult treatment," explained the skin doctor. "You see, we had to remove all the cuticle from her cheeks and graft a new epidermis upon them."

"Well," said the father, reaching for his checkbook, "I don't know which one of us you skinned the most."—Baltimore American.

The Mace In England.

Every deliberative civil body in England, even down to the town councils, is provided with a mace, which is brought forth with solemn ceremony and placed on the table before the deliberations begin. In one or two city councils a candlestick of silver is added to the mace, and acts passed in the absence of these objects are supposed to be illegal.

Realism Most Attractive.

"Do you believe in realism in the drama?" asked the friend.

"I do," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes. "Many is the time I would have given a great deal to play Macbeth with a real banquet."—Washington Star.

CURIOUS KOREAN CUSTOM.

The Battle of Stones Which Marks Beginning of New Year.

One of the most curious customs in Korea marks the advent of the new year. This is the battle with stones, participated in by inhabitants of Seoul. At a spot about a mile and a half outside the city walls, on the main road to the Han river, the people assemble by thousands either as witnesses of or participants in this truly remarkable exhibition of warlike good will. By previous arrangement piles of stones are in readiness, all carefully selected and of a convenient size.

Without previous selection of combatants the participants form themselves into opposing armies, about the only qualification for service being apparently the ability to hurl a stone at the advancing forces of the enemy. At first the stone throwing is at long range and uninteresting, but as the throwing continues the forces draw nearer, and the fight waxes fast and furious, men being detailed to collect the stones into heaps again or fetch fresh ammunition for the firing line. Then the clash comes, the two bodies meet, fierce rushes are made, stones are discarded, and knives and clubs are freely used. The clash of weapons, the screams of the combatapts, the surging mass of men, some being trampled to death, now falling, now struggling to their feet, the blood flowing from numerous cuts—the whole goes to make a picture that depicts anything but the joy we attribute to the coming of a new year. The fight is kept up until the clang of the great city bell tells the combatants that it is time to return home.

Perhaps the most singular feature of the celebration is that during the remaining eleven months of the year the Korean is as amiable a person as can be found in any country, and by some writers the average Korean is characterized as the most abject coward on the face of the earth.

But, cowards or no cowards, the Korean people still indulge, as they have for years, in this annual warlike welcome of the new year. Indeed it is legal in Korea to fight not only on New Year's day, but during the first moon or month of the year. The custom has become a national institution, sanctioned by the government and patronized by the king and the nobility. The police attend the battles, but merely to keep order among the spectators. Fighting is the Korean's privilege with the advent of each new year, and he is expected to exercise that privilege to the extent of his ability if he would be accounted a good, country loving Korean.—New York Tribune.

Florence Nightingale's Real Name.

The fact is but little known that the family name of Florence Nightingale was not originally Nightingale, but Shore. Her father was a rich Sheffield banker of the name of Shore and connected with an old family which had been in possession of land in the counties of Derby and York since the fifteenth century. Mr. Shore assumed the name of Nightingale long after the birth of his children and because he inherited the fortune and estates of his mother's uncle. There were but two children in the family, both girls. The eldest was named Parthenosse, because she was born in Athens, and this name was supposed to indicate her father's profound admiration for the Parthenon. The younger, Florence, was also named after the city of her birth.

The Retort Judicial.

When Judge Barnard was on the bench and holding court in Poughkeepsie, a lawyer who did not like him chanced to see a one cent coin lying on the floor. Picking it up and holding it forth in ostentatious display, he said:

"I imagine, your honor, from the value of this coin, that it must belong to the court."

"And I imagine," replied Judge Barnard, "that if it was not such a small coin the court never would have seen it."—New York Times.

His Seat.

Mrs. Gaussip—I saw Mr. Stockson Bonds at the upholsterer's yesterday. I guess he's going to get married and furnish a home.

Mrs. Malaprop—No; I'll tell you what took him there. I hear he bought a seat at the Stock Exchange last week. It was a secondhand one, and I guess it wants it fixed up.—Philadelphia Press.

How They Grow.

First Year—The biggest trout I ever caught was a foot and a half long, and he had a big fishhook in his stomach.

Tenth Year—Did I ever tell you about the trout I once caught? It was over a yard long and had an anchor in his stomach.—New York Weekly.

AN IMPROMPTU WHIRL.

It Scared the Chef Worse Than It Did His Assistant.

Pat was assistant cook on one of the dining cars on the Great Western road running into St. Paul. He was obstinate and ill tempered. The chef was equally so, and as a result constant warfare waged between them. One hot day Pat was making ice cream and in spite of the chef's warnings insisted upon sitting in the doorway of the pantry while he turned the freezer. The train, going up grade, made a sudden lurch, and Pat and his can of ice cream fell out the door, as his superior officer had predicted. Frantic with fright, the chef in his white cap and apron tore through the train looking for the conductor.

"Mon Dieu, M. Conductaire," he cried, wringing his hands when he found that person, "ze ice cream freezaire he fall off, and Pat go wiz heem! Stop ze tramway or we will haf pas dessert pour le diner. Trouble, trouble always wiz zat Irishman!"

The conductor pulled the bell and stopped the train, but it had already gone two miles past the spot where Pat had rolled out. They backed the train, fully expecting to find Pat's mangled body beside the track. Instead they saw him coming over the ties on a run, carrying on his back the ice cream freezer. He climbed on the train, looking foolish, but all he ever said of his miraculous escape was, "Be gosh, it jarred me some, it did thot!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

One Divided by a Half.

If you ask the man in the street the simple question, What is one divided by a half? he will either reply that the operation is an impossible one or that the answer is a half. When you point out that one divided by two is a half, he will see that there is something wrong somewhere, but will still be quite unable to give the right answer. When you tell him that the answer two, he will either accept the assertion without understanding it or will dispute it tooth and nail. If you attempt to convince him of his error, you will find it is not at all an easy task.

His mistake arises through the confounding of two distinct ideas—namely, one divided into two and one divided by two. One divided into two is one divided into two parts, each part containing a half. One divided by two is the ratio of one to two or the number of times two is contained in one. T any one who has thought the matter out this seems clear enough, but to the man in the street it is sheer nonsense, and he will tell you so.—Kansas City Independent.

A Bit of Correspondence.

The following correspondence, ending in true Irish fashion, actually passed between two men in England some years ago:

"Mr. Thompson presents his compliments to Mr. Simpson and begs to request that he will keep his doggs from trespassing on his grounds."

"Mr. Simpson presents his compliments to Mr. Thompson and begs to suggest that in future he should not spell 'dogs' with two gees."

"Mr. Thompson's respects to Mr. Simpson and will feel obliged if he will add the letter 'e' to the last word in the note just received, so as to represent Mr. Simpson and lady."

"Mr. Simpson returns Mr. Thompson's note unopened, the impertinence it contains being only equaled by its vulgarity."

One of Travers' Jokes.

When William R. Travers was in the directorate of the New York Central railroad, Jay Gould was running the Erie in opposition, and his management of that system betrayed a constant and intimate knowledge of what was going on in the Central's star chamber. Commodore Vanderbilt was naturally exasperated, and one day, after expressing how helpless he found himself to outwit his rival, he turned to Travers with the query:

"Well, Billy, how can we stop Gould from getting knowledge of what we are doing?"

"W-w-why," suggested the genial wit—"w-w-why d-dont you m-m-make him a d-d-director of N-N-New York C-C-Central?"

A Parisian Recommendation.

A political critic of a former generation was engaging an apartment in one of the chief streets of Paris. The landlady, wishing, like all landladies, to make the best of her rooms, led him to one of the principal windows and as she swung back the venetian blinds remarked, "It is from this point, sir, that all of our revolutions pass."

The good woman was no cynic, but spoke from her heart and just as an English landlady who harps upon the splendid view of the sea from the two pair front.—London Answers.

No Need to Worry.

Professor Snore is very absentminded. His son rushed into his study one morning and exclaimed:

"Just think, father! I've swallowed a pin! What shall I do?"

"Ah, well," replied the big man, "don't worry about it. Here's another pin."—Chums.

Never Pleasing.

Mrs. Mitford—What do you think of this vivisection question? It must be awful to be cut up alive.

Mrs. Graham—Yes, and it is awful to be cut dead, as I was by one of my dearest friends last evening.—Boston Transcript.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

The Boy—This isn't what she ordered.

The Grocer—I know it. Just tell her this is more expensive, but we'll let her have it for the same price.—Indianapolis News.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION

Handed Down by Judge Love on Wednesday.

A SET BACK FOR FAITH CURISTS

The First Church of Christ Scientist of Howard Refused a Charter —The Followers of the Faith Unmercifully Scored.

THE OPINION IN FULL

His Honor Judge Love handed down an important decision Wednesday in the case of the application for a charter made by the First Church of Christ Scientist of Howard in which he refuses the charter and scores the applicants in strong terms. The decision in full as follows:

In matter of application for charter of First Church of Christ Scientists. } In the Common Pleas of Centre County No 159 April term 1902.

This is an application for a charter to incorporate the "First Church of Christ Scientist of Howard."

The purpose set forth in the worship of Almighty God according to the faith, doctrine; discipline and usage of said church of the United States of America. We have not been furnished with a copy of the discipline of said church, We are not therefore fully informed of its faith, purpose and usage. We however, from other sources of information, are advised that the special object and purpose of the organization is to disseminate the doctrine of physical healing or cure by faith in the exercise of divine power.

From our investigation, the results of the practice based upon such docurine, have not demonstrated that they are certainly benficial to society, but on the contrary have mostly proven to be failures and hurtful.

Those who practice the faith cure, are mostly persons, uneducated, and subject to the influence of religious superstition and excitement, and those upon whom they seek to exercise their professed power are of the same class. When the propogandism they advocate at all relieves, then it should be followed by certain definite and beneficial results at all times. When such results follow their profession of faith, then they may have some rights to denominate themselves "Christ Scientist" and when such results follow, then will flesh and blood cease to be mortal and will be rendered spiritual and immortal. The necessity of sustaining life in accordance with natural laws will no longer be required.

The ordinary food now used to furnish blood to sustain life, will be unnecessary and useless. If as they claim all physical diseases can be healed, regardless of, or without use of natural and scientific remedies, but by simple belief then they ought to be able to restore life and raise the dead.

So far as the practical results of this claim to christian science is concerned we can, from its results, view it only as a species of charlatanry, that is more hurtful to society than beneficial, and rather deserves the ban of the law than its encouragement and protection.

We are therefore of the opinion we would not be warranted in granting the application, and it is therefore refused.

Caught in the Belts.

Jacob T. Glasgow, a well known contractor of Bellwood, was found dead in the saw mill on the farm of his father, James P. Glasgow, one mile west of Bellwood, Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock, says the Tyrone Herald.

Mr. Glasgow had been working in the mill during the afternoon, adjusting the machinery preparatory to putting in a lath mill, and, about 6 o'clock his sister went to call him for supper. Not finding him and getting no response to her calls, she returned to the house. The hired man was then sent out to look for him, and upon going into the basement of the mill, was horror-stricken to find Mr. Glasgow suspended from the ceiling by the neck in the belting.

The mill is operated by water power and, as he was adjusting the machinery, he was caught by a belt around the neck and carried to a wheel at the ceiling or upper floor, in which position he was found. The accident must have occurred several hours before, as the body was cold when found. Death was due to strangulation.

Spring Tree Planting.

It will soon be tree planting time again, and we would like to offer a suggestion about tree planting around the home lot. Please do not set the trees out on regular lines, squares and the like. The only trees set in rows should be those bordering the street and those in the orchard. The best model for tree planting for home embedishment is to be found in the native forests or, rather, in the opening at the edge of the timber—natural and artistic combinations of forest tree, shrub and vine, with an interval of grass meadow between. Find some pretty spot of this sort and study the way nature has arranged the trees and shrubs.

Don't get the trees too near the house. They seem all right when young and do no harm, but they soon grow, and then you see the mistake you have made, and rarely can there be found a man with courage enough to lay the ax to the root of the handsome and thrifty tree which he has himself planted. Nothing so spoils the front yard or lawn as a couple of evergreens set twenty feet distant from the house. Evergreens are all right, but they should grow alone and be grouped with other deciduous trees to give a fine effect.

A Severe Cold for Three Months.

The following letter from A. J. Nusbaum, of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story. "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar, and eight doses cured me." Refuse subetitutes. C. M. Parrish.

Excitement at Eagleville.

Eagleville is considerably excited by the appearance there of persons exposed to smallpox. Orrin Stover and wife returned this week from a lumber camp near Reynoldsville in which one of the workmen developed a bad case of smallpox. Mr. and Mrs. Stover had charge of the camp and were exposed to the case. Before the camp was quarantined they left and came to this place, stopping at the Stover house, their former home, now occupied as a boarding house by Mrs. Linn, a widow. The facts in the case became known Thursday and the school directors of Liberty township, on authority from the health officers in Bellefonte, quarantined all in the Stover house to await developments. The children of those who had called at the house were hastily sent home from school. Those who were exposed there are very uneasy and much indignation is expressed because the facts were not made public immediately.

The Newest in Monograms.

The old style plain letter monogram is being superseded, and the woman who would be thought artistic and up to date in dainty trifles is using the new monogram somewhat after the Japanese style. The more subtle the design the better it is liked.

The idea is to have something graceful in outline, well balanced in parts and altogether artistic, a monogram perfectly clear when once deciphered, but which to the casual observer seems to be merely a pleasing, fanciful sketch of a symbol rather than a combination of letters.

Holly, real estate, insurance and loan agent, of Macomb, Ill. "Before using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she could not eat an ordinary meal without intense suffering. She is now entirely cured. Several physicians and many remedies had failed to give relief." You don't have to diet. Eat any good food you want, but don't everload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will always digest it for you. C. M. Parrish.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Evidences of Further Improvement Are Quite Numerous.

LABOR TROUBLES NOT SO GRAVE

Wages Have Been Advanced, Not Only Through Strikes, But in Cases Voluntarily—Traffic Congestion Subsided.

FAILURES FOR THE PAST WEEK

NEW YORK, March 22.—R. G. Dun & Company's Weekly Review of Trade to day says:

Evidences of further improvement are numeroue. Labor controversies are less threatening, many settlements having been effected, while others are momentarily anticipated.

Wages has been advanced, not only through strikes, but in some cases voluntarily; traffic congestion has subsided until it is possible to deliver goods according to specifications; the leading lines of manufacture are very fully engaged, while jobbing trade is of exceptional magnitude.

Pressure for iron and steel has not diminished perceptibly, yet the impression is growing that after July 1st the situation will become approximately normal and it will be possible to secure deliveries with some degree of promptness. This is the more probable as there has been a further stiffening of quotations and additional importations which would have been much larger but for the advance in foreign markets. For some time to come it is probable that foreign commerce exhibits as to this industry will be less satisfactory, but it is worthy of note that imports are mainly of pig iron, billets and sheets, while the exports of many lines of expensive machinery and other finished products are fully sustained. Large contracts are constantly under consideration for structural steel on domestic account, including railway bridges, viaducts, car shops and office buildings. In this respect the domestic consumption this year will far surpass all records. Open weather has brought out a heavy tonnage of merchant pipe.

Both at the east and west there is a little more activity in shoe shops, yet productive capacity is not fully engaged and new orders come forward slowly.

Grain markets have begun to feel the effects of weather reports and for the next few months it will be a simple matter for speculators to secure erratic fluctuations. Strength was conspicuous on Tuesday, last year's serious injury to corn making quotations particularly sensitive to indications of drouth. Another helpful factor was the increase in export of wheat and flour to 4,657,625 bushels for the week, against only 2,598,472 last week and 2,353,998 a year ago. Western receipts continued to make an unfavorable comparison with the movement in 1901, wheat amounting to 2,809,990 bushels, against 4,165,833, and corn 1,460,536, compared with 3,074,011. Atlantic exports of corn increased largely over the low record of the preceding week to 298,884 bushels, and there is still a severe loss as compared with the 2,351,272 bushels shipped a year ago.

Failures for the week numbered 209 in the United States against 224 last year, and 31 in Canada against 33 last year.

"One Minute Cough Cure will do all that is claimed for it," says Justice of the Peace J. Q. Hood, Crosby, Miss. "My wife could not get her breath and was relieved by the first dose. It has been a benefit to all my family." C. M. Parish.

Women Wage Earners.

The number of women earning their own living in this country was given as 4,000,000 in the last census report, the number having more than doubled in the last ten years. The larger increase was in the women engaged in trade, which, from 26,000 rose to 288,000. Bookkeepers, stenographers, cashiers and telephone operators made up a large proportion.

No one was injured.

LIGHT AND DARK,

Day and night, sunshine and shadow are not more different from each other than a healthful from a sickly woman. The healthful woman carries light and sunshine with her wherever she goes.

The woman who suffers from ill-health casts a shadow on her own happiness and the happiness of others. She cannot help it. Those who suffer cannot smile and sing.

Ill-health in woman is generally traceable to disease of the delicate womanly organism. Many women have been restored to happiness by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I feel it my duty to inform you that I had been a sufferer for many years from nervousness with all its symptoms and complications," writes Mrs. O. N. Fisher, of 1861 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. "I was constantly going to see a physician or purchasing medicine for this or that complaint as my troubles became unbearable. In the spring of 1897 my husband induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking one bottle and following your advice I was so encouraged that I took five more bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and then I did not take any more for several weeks as I felt so much better, but still I was not completely cured. I commenced taking it again and felt that I was improving faster than at first. I am not now cross and irritable, and I have a good color in my face; have also gained about ten pounds in weight and one thousand of comfort, for I am a new woman once more."

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss, therefore accept no substitute.

Dirty Patagonia.

"Patagonians are not giants, as some have supposed and as the geographies teach," said a man who has traveled. "They are large in comparison with the other South American natives; that is all. Everything is relative, you know. But they are very fat. That is why they can stand the cold so well. I have seen Patagonian men and boys running around unclad while I was wrapped in warm garments, with the snow falling upon them in quantities and the wind blowing bitterly. They are kept warm by their fat—and dirt. Patagonia is one of the dirtiest places imaginable. Don't go there if you hate dirt. That is my advice to all who contemplate a journey to the jumping off place of South America."

The First False Hair.

In very early days, as now, the hair was sometimes thin, and it had to be eked out in various ways to make believe that nature had been spendthrift to all alike. About the first description extant of woman's hair speaks of plaited locks," known as "Gretchen braids" to us. To make these braids seem longer silk the color of the hair was braided in. Then they took to putting the braids in cases of silk, elongating them with all sorts of stuff till they looked like umbrellas in covers. The Chinese pigtail is a modification of this style.

The Value of the Ruby.

The ruby is valued highest when it contains the least azure. The largest ruby that history speaks of belonged to Elizabeth of Austria, the wife of Charles IX. It was almost as big as a hen's egg. The virtues attributed to rubies are to banish sadness, to repress luxury and to drive away annoying thoughts. At the same time it symbolizes cruelty, anger and carnage, as well as boldness and bravery. A change in its color announces a calamity, but when the trouble is over it regains its primitive luster.

MILES WOULD RESIGN.

Gives His Opinion of Bill to Reorganize the Army.

THIS BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

Says the Hawley Measure Would Destroy the Unity of the Army and Instanced Authorities in Defense of His Position.

SAYS HE COULD NAME THE MEN

WASHINGTON, March 21.—General Nelson A. Miles yesterday told the Senate committee on military affairs that if the bill introduced by Senator Hawley at the instance of the war department for the organization of the general staff for the army should become a law he would decline to longer hold his commission. The reason he gave for the statement is that the bill is utterly subversive of the interests of the military establishment and he said that he would not be a party to such a proceeding to the extent even of continuing to hold his place.

The statement was made in the course of a prolonged hearing by the committee, which was conducted behind closed doors, and in which General Miles touched upon a variety of subjects connected with the army. The portion of the bill to which he directed his special criticism is that contained in section 7, reading as follows:

"That from and after the passage of this act, the senior general officer of the army shall be assigned to command such portion of the army as the president may direct, or be detailed to duty in the general staff corps. All duties prescribed by law for the commanding general of the army shall be performed by the chief of the general staff or other general officer designated by the secretary of war. Provided, that so long as the present lieutenant general of the army continues on the active list he shall be the chief of the general staff, and upon the separation from active service of the said lieutenant general of the army, said office, except as herein provided, shall cease to determine."

General Miles said that if this provision should become a law it would have the effect of destroying the unity of the army, and he read numerous authorities including Napoleon, Wellington, Washington, Case and Grant, to show the necessity of having one head to the army and of controlling authority. His own experience and observation had, he said, the effect of confirming these views, and he gave an illustration of its beneficial effect in time of emergency, instancing the beginning of the war with Spain. "I heard at midnight," he said, "that the Spanish fleet had been located definitely at Santiago, and I hastened to the home of Secretary Long, where the news was confirmed. Shafter was then at Tampa and I sat down there, in the secretary's house, and wrote a dispatch directing him to start immediately for Santiago, with the result that the army was soon on its way to the point where its presence was needed. Suppose," he added, exhibiting the message which he had sent to General Shafter, "I had been compelled to get around to a dozen or more majors, as many colonels and any number of generals constituting a general staff."

Then he added, in all probability, the senior general of the army would not, under the provisions he had quoted, have been in position to do anything, and he called attention to the clause relieving him (the senior general) of command and making it possible for any other officer to be appointed.

He declared that under section 7, it would be competent to one day promote a captain to the position of a brigadier and the next day make him chief of staff, thus practically placing a captain at the head of the army. Warming up somewhat, he asserted that the bill was calculated to accomplish no purpose, except to allow the secretary of war and the adjutant general to promote the interests of their personal favorites.

In the course of his remarks General Miles told the committee in confidence that, with the bill a law, he could now name the men who would hold the places of honor provided under it, but the committee did not ask for the names.

HOME AND CHILD

Does your horse "feel his oats"? What a difference between the grain-fed and the grass-fed horse! The first strong and full of ginger, the second flabby, weak and tired out before he begins. The feeding makes the difference.

Children are not alike either. One is rosy, bright-eyed, full of life and laughter, another is pale, weak and dull. The feeding again is responsible.

Sickly children need special feeding. They don't "feel their oats". Scott's Emulsion adds just the right richness to their diet. It is like grain to the horse. The child gets new appetite and strong digestion.

Scott's Emulsion is more than food. It is a strong medicine. It rouses up dull children, puts new flesh on thin ones and red blood into pale ones. It makes children grow. Scott's Emulsion makes ordinary food do its duty.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. A Cruel Wretch.

Last week a long, lank, fox-hunting, rabbit skining looking chap from up the "crick" called at this office and wanted to know how much his wife owed the paper. On being informed he paid and stopped it, stating that he was on his way to Houtzdale to stop the "Citizen," as they took up too much of his wife's time to read them. When it is understood that this poor woman has been a wage earner all her life it makes one feel sad to think that she is tied for all time to an illiterate ignoramus whose greatest ambition would be to skin a skunk or dig out a ground hog for her off-spring to live on.—Public Spirit Clearfield.

—"A woman will yank up the guy ropes until she almost squeezes her immortal soul out of place to put on a $10 hat, ornamented with the dead body of a song bird, and run about town selling tickets to missionary entertainments to raise money to convert the heathen," said a fresh newspaper man. It caught the eye of a lady editor and she talked back thus: "A man will saturate himself with filthy tobacco, soak himself with wicked wiskey, and spit all over the office floor while he writes about the women who wear stuffed birds in their hats and trail their garments over filthy walks made filthy by the men themselves." And when Isaac read the woman's reply, he remarked: "Vot that woman vos one buzz-saw what vos as sharp as a whole paper of needles sticken in von's back.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

Four Somewhat Noted Boer Leaders Arrived in Pretoria.

GONE TO ORANGE RIVER COLONY

London Thinks They Have a Desire to See Lord Kitchener and That Another Attempt at Peace Will Soon Be Made.

WHAT A BELGIAN PAPER SAYS

PRETORIA, March 24.—Acting President Schalkburger, F. W. Reitz, ex-Secretary of State of the Transvaal, and Commandants Lucas Meyer and Krogh, arrived here yesterday on a special train from Balmoral, about 50 miles east of here. They reached Balmoral under a flag of truce. After a short stay here they proceeded for the Orange River Colony.

LONDON, March 24.—It is believed here that Acting President Schalkburger, F. W. Reitz and Commandants Lucas Meyer and Krogh, who reached Pretoria yesterday and proceeded for the Orange River Colony, intend to see Lord Kitchener, who is directing operations against Delarey.

The news that the wandering Boer "government" had entered the British lines is regarded as having but one meaning, namely, that another attempt is being made to negotiate peace. The fact that the censor passed the news of this movement is accepted confirmation of this opinion.

Nothing is actually known here of the intention of Messrs. Schalkburger, Reitz, Meyer and Krogh.

It is possible they have only sought permission to traverse the British lines in order to consult with Mr. Steyn and the Boer Generals DeWet and Delarey. But whatever their object, the news has been welcomed in London as pointing to the possibility of peace.

Some correspondence which was seized a short time ago, when Mr. Steyn narrowly escaped capture, proved that he and Mr. Schalkburger were anxious to conclude peace. No extravagant hopes, however, are being built on the outcome of the movements of the acting president and his companions, chiefly because it is feared that Delarey, in the flush of his recent success, will refuse to be a party to any negotiations.

The war office has informed a representative of the Associated Press that it has received no information either confirming or contradicting the news.

BRUSSELS, March 24.—The Petit Bleu, referring to the arrival at Pretoria of Messrs. Schalkburger, Reitz and Commandants Meyer and Krogh, says it believes that Mr. Schalkburger's move is in response to further British overtures for peace, made out of gratitude for the release of General Methuen and predicts that these overtures will lead to no results unless Boer independence is conceded.

A LATER TELEGRAM

PRETORIA, March 24.—Acting president Schalkburger, F. W. Reitz, ex-secretary of state of the Transvaal, and Commandants Lucas Meyer and Krogh, with their secretaries and attendants, arrived here yesterday, March 22, at 2.04 p. m., on a special train from Balmoral, about fifty miles east of here. They came into Balmoral under a flag of truce.

Upon arriving here Mr. Schalkburger and his party drove immediately to Lord Kitchener's headquarters, where he had an interview with the British general. The Boers afterwards proceeded to the railroad station and entrained at 5 o'clock for Kroohstad, whence they will go out under a safe conduct.

For a week past Mr. Schalkburger and his colleagues have been stationed at Rhenosler Kop, north of Balmoral, where they have been closely pressed by British columns. Dispatch riders entered Balmoral Friday night and notified the British of the approach of Dr. Schalkburger and his party.

An Athlete's Fatal Throw.

Clinton, Ia., March 26—While practicing athletics here yesterday, Tim Clark, captain of the High School Football Club last year, made a wild throw in putting the shot, and the 12-pound ball struck Hugh Callahan, an 8-year-old boy, in the head, death resulting a few minutes later. The skull was fractured, and the boy died without regaining consciousness.

Anti-Saloon Convention.

The State convention of the Anti-Saloon League will be held at Altoona, April 3 and 4. Some of the subjects to be discussed are as follows: "How Secure Local Option," "Better Laws to Regulate Clubs,," "Law enforcement as a Means," "Our Proved Temperance Sentiment in all the Churches." It would be well to add also "State and National Prohibition; How Brought About?"

CUBA AND RECIPROCITY

An Important Conference Held at the White House.

IT WAS CALLED BY THE PRESIDENT

Although the Statement Was Given That No Conclusion Was Reached, the President Made Some Pointed Remarks.

WHAT GENERAL WOOD SAYS

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A conference was held at the white house Monday afternoon between the president and seven of the republican members of the house of representatives who have been foremost in opposing the plan of Cuban reciprocity urged by the ways and means committee and understood to have the support of the administration. The members who called were Representatives Tawney and Morris, of Minnesota; Dick, of Ohio; William A. Smith, of Michigan; Miner, of Wisconsin; Metcalf, of California, and Dayton, of West Virginia. The call was at the request of the president, who desired an exchange of views to the end that harmonious action might be secured in such steps as are taken in behalf of Cuba. General Wood was not present at the conference. The president and the congressmen remained alone in the cabinet room for nearly an hour and a half. The talk took a wide range, covering the conditions in Cuba, what should be done to meet these conditions, and also the question of harmonizing conflicting interests so that there might be unanimity of action on the part of the republicans announcings. It was stated afterwards to those who participated in the conference that it was of the most agreeable and pleasant character, and that there was not the remotest suggestion on the part of the chief executive which could be construed as seeking to urge them to yield their personal convictions. On the contrary, it was stated, the president listened to the recital of difficulties which had been encountered by those who opposed the reciprocity plan, and also has received from them the various plans which they had hoped to reach an agreement.

The callers were frank to concede that they found the president desirous of extending effective relief to Cuba by the reciprocity plan. In this connection, it was stated, the president drew attention to the fact that the Sibly amendments limiting the reciprocity period to December 1, 1903, gave the Payne bill a rather one-sided aspect, as it asked Cuba to adopt our naturalization and immigration laws and give us tariff concessions without limit of time, and in return gave to Cuba tariff concessions limited to about a year and a half. Some of the congressmen present were inclined to admit that we were asking a good deal from Cuba in return for the little we would grant to her.

General Wood has expressed opinion that the proposed 20 per cent reduction of Cuban imports will not afford the desired relief to Cuba. He is endeavoring to secure more liberal concessions for the island.

gle-handed and in the first round has been victorious.

While the benefactions of the late Gen. John A. Patton, of Curwensville, are still fresh in our memories, we are pleased to note that they are greatly enriched by the deep interest of his son, A. E. Patton, in building up Methodism throughout the Clearfield region. The graceful and cordial spirit with which he extends his helping hand gives a delightful charm to his gifts.

The Smyser memorial window of Eighth Avenue was generously remembered by him.

We are sorry to note the continued illness of D. W. McCurdy, of Clearfield, who rendered such splendid aid both to the cause of Missions and the Twentieth Century Thank-offering. We devoutly pray that the great Head of the Church may spare this good man's life.

One hundred and ninety-three of our members have died. Jeremiah Delo, a life-long official member of Eighth Avenue, Altoona, and to whom more than any other the church is indebted for its present costly organ, has passed from labore abundant to reward.

For the hospitality of the people, the kindly attention of the ministers and their families, I am greatly indebted.

CONFERENCE NOTES.

Bishop John M. Walden and wife, of Cincinnati, arrived in Bellefonte Monday afternoon, having come direct from Porto Rico where the distinguished prelate was making a study of the missionary situation on the Island. The Bishop and his wife are the guests of Governor and Mrs. Hastings.

J. W. Webber and daughter, Miss Mollie, of Altoona, are here to attend the Methodist Conference and are registered at the Bush House. Mr. Webber is in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad and one of the leading laymen in the Conference.

Rev. William Brill, pastor of the Methodist church at Newberry, Pa., is attending the Conference.

Rev. A. S. Bowman, pastor of the Methodist church at Hollidaysburg, arrived in town Tuesday.

Rev. H. L. Jacobs, pastor of the First Methodist church of Altoona, was an arrival in Bellefonte Tuesday to attend Conference.

Rev. W. R. Whitney, of Bloomsburg, who is attending Conference this week, is the father of young Whitney who is a member of General Miles' staff and who distinguished himself by gallant service in Cuba during the late unpleasantness with Spain.

Rev. George M. Glenn, of Roaring Springs, was an arrival in town Monday. He came to attend the sessions of the Central Pennsylvania Conference and carries with him an excellent report of the work of the past year.

Rev. J. Z. Lloyd and wife, of Swedesboro, N. J., are in Bellefonte this week to attend the Conference, Rev. Lloyd being one of the senior members.

Rev. J. McK. Reiley, of Bellwood, is in Bellefonte this week to take the examination for admission to the Conference, which assembled here Wednesday.

It is extremely probable that the session of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held in Altoona in 1903. At the fourth quarterly conference of the Eighth Avenue church of Altoona a resolution was unanimously adopted asking for the Conference next year, and all the other Methodist societies of that city have cordially joined in the request.

James H. Rine is acting as postmaster of the Conference.

Mr. Jessie S. Bell, of Williamsport, is representing "The Sun" of that city at the Conference this week.

Revs. Palsgrove, Glenn, Stein and Lloyd comprise the committee who examined Tuesday a class of fifty ministerial students for admission to the Conference.

Rev. W. R. Whitney, of Bloomsburg, a supernumery member of the Methodist Conference, was a pleasant caller at this office Monday afternoon. Years ago he preached at Fillmore and also at points in Penns Valley.

Rev. Dr. Silas C. Swallow, of Harrisburg, known as the famous "fighting Parson," and whose trial for falsehood before the Central Pennsylvania Conference this week promises to stir Methodism to its depths, arrived in town Tuesday afternoon and is quartered at the Bush House.

For the third time Bellefonte welcomes the Central Pennsylvania Conference "with an open hand and a warm heart.

A departure from the usual custom will be found in the fact that Rev. E. S. Dunham will conduct the morning devotional services each day instead of having this exercise under the direction of different members of our own conference.

Prof. J. M. Black, of Williamsport, assisted by a large choir has charge of the music.

The visit of Dr. Young to his home conference is a source of pleasure to his many friends. His kindness in delivering his lecture "Lux Mundi," free of charge is greatly appreciated.

If the harmony everywhere in evidence in the renovated church at Bellefonte prevails to the same degree in the organized membership, surely this would be a charge to be earnestly coveted.

It is evident at the very outset that the church is wholly inadequate to afford seating for all who desire to attend.

GRAHAM—TEATS.

A Pretty Nuptial Event Thursday Afternoon.

The comfortable residence of Mrs. Sarah C. Teats, of East Bishop street, was the scene Thursday afternoon of a quiet but very pretty wedding event, the contracting parties being Mrs. Teats' daughter, Miss Margaret, and Mr. William Henry Graham, of Binghampton, N. Y.

The ceremony was performed promptly at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the residence, which were tastefully and beautifully decorated for the occasion. The officiating clergyman was Rev. William Laurie, D. D., LL. D., and the beautiful ring ceremony of the Presbyterian church was used.

The bride and groom entered to the music of the wedding march as played by Miss Sallie Brungart. They were attended by Mr. John Teats, a brother of the bride, as best man, and by Miss Eleanor Bullock, of Beech Creek, as maid of honor. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Harry Teats of Curwensville.

The bride was attired in white swiss as were also the maid of honor and Miss Brungart.

After the ceremony and congratulations a delightful wedding supper was served to the twenty-five guests present, after which the bride and groom departed on an evening train for a wedding tour to be spent with friends at Curwensville, DuBois and Southern New York.

The bride was the recipient of quite a number of beautiful and costly presents from her admiring friends. The bride was for several years employed in the Bell Telephone exchange at this place and by her pleasant and affable ways won a host of friends and well-wishers.

The groom has been representing the Baltimore Life Insurance company at this place for the past year and in that time has shown himself to be a most worthy young man.

This paper joins with the many friends in tendering congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Graham and wishes them a prosperous voyage on the sea of matrimony.

CHINESE EXCLUSION BILL READY

Will Be Favorably Reported By House Committee On Foreign Affairs.

Washington, March 26.—The house committee on foreign affairs yesterday completed consideration of the Chinese exclusion bill, and by a practically unanimous vote ordered it favorably reported to the house. The measure has been most carefully considered for more than a month, and it comes from the committee with quite a number of changes.

The exclusion of Chinese laborers is made complete, both as to the mainland territory of the United States and all insular possessions, including the Philippines and Hawaii.

The committee finally restored the prohibitory clause recommended by the Pacific coast senators and members, so that as reported it reads: "And the prohibition shall apply to all Chinese laborers, as well as those who were in such insular possessions at the time of acquisition by the United States as to those who have come there since, and those who may be born there hereafter."

After reporting the bill tomorrow Chairman Hitt is hopeful of bringing it to early consideration before the house.

ENTIRE POLICE FORCE RESIGNS

They Say Mayor Ordered Them to Arrest His Political Opponents.

Helena, Mont., March 26.—The entire police force of this city has resigned as a result of orders which they claim were issued by Mayor Frank J. Edwards. Mayor Edwards is a candidate for re-election. The Republican primaries are to be held tomorrow, and the fight promises to be a close one. The police assert they were personally instructed by the mayor to attend the primaries and arrest all anti-Edwards Republicans, and the resignations followed. Friends of Mayor Edwards deny the statements of the police and advance charges of bribery.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

Rev. James P. Hughes of the Academy to Retire in June—Resolutions Adopted by Trustees.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Bellefonte Academy held at the Academy Saturday afternoon the resignation of Principal James P. Hughes was accepted and Prof. James R. Hughes was chosen to succeed him.

Gen. James A. Beaver, Ellis L. Orvis, J. W. Gephart, John M. Shugert and John Blanchard composed the committee which drafted the appended resolutions which were unanimously adopted by the board.

WHEREAS in a letter from him, dated March 11th, 1902, addressed to the Board of Trustees of the Bellefonte Academy, the Reverend James P. Hughes has tendered to the Board his resignation as Principal of the Bellefonte Academy to take effect at the close of the present school year in June next.

AND WHEREAS the Board deems it but just to Mr. Hughes, in view of his advancing years, to accept the resignation thus tendered and thus secure to him the relief from this responsibility, so well earned by him.

Now Therefore be it resolved, That the Board hereby accepts Mr. Hughes' resignation to take effect in June next, at the close of the current school year, and in doing so the Board makes the following statement:

In 1868 the Reverend James P. Hughes, after a successful career as a teacher at the Edgehill School Princeton, New Jersey, and in other schools, covering a period of sixteen years of previous teaching, came to Bellefonte and accepted the principalship of the Bellefonte Academy. This Centre County institution was incorporated by the Legislature of Pennsylvania in the year 1805, and has had a continuous corporate existence from that time to the present, a period of time almost coextensive with the erection of Centre County and the incorporation of the Borough of Bellefonte. During its long history, this institution has had enrolled among its pupils the names of many of the most prominent and honored citizens of our town and county, as well as the names of many who have earned distinction in various walks of life in other States and other communities. The educational traditions of the institution had always been of the best, but for a period of years previous to the coming of Mr. Hughes to Bellefonte the condition of the school had grown to be far from satisfactory and the securing of the services of Mr. Hughes was with a view to the reorganization of the school upon a basis that would re-instate it as a first class educational institution. The life of the school under Mr. Hughes' principalship took upon itself special characteristics growing out of his marked qualifications as an educator. Under his guidance the preparation of students at the Bellefonte Academy came to be recognized in the colleges as peculiarly thorough and efficient. Throughout his whole career the Reverend James P. Hughes has been recognized by the foremost educators of our land as a person possessing peculiarly the teaching quality. He has always been recognized as a teacher especially qualified to start young minds upon the road that enables them to think for themselves, to improve and cultivate their minds, and to use their intellects in every walk of life to the very best advantage. Moreover, Mr. Hughes has been a man that has endeared himself to his pupils in a very marked degree. Mr. Hughes' students have always been his hearty supporters, and after a career of fifty years in teaching, with his special qualifications, it is no uncommon thing to find fathers, devoted to the memory of their school days under him, seeking him out from distant parts of the United States to place their sons under the same teaching influence and the same youthful associations that they had enjoyed in their boyhood days and had, in their after life, found to be such a source of strength and to be bound up with such pleasant recollections.

The life of the Bellefonte Academy during Mr. Hughes' principalship, however, has not been without its discouragements and disappointments. Nevertheless, from the start and during all his incumbency, he has devoted his best endeavors for the interests of the institution, and in later years through the joint efforts of himself and his son, James R. Hughes, the Assistant Principal of the Academy, he has seen the institution reach its present high state of efficiency and success, and it is a great source of gratification to the Board, as it no doubt is to Mr. Hughes, that at this the time of his intended retirement, after continuous service as principal for a period of years covering a whole generation, he can look back upon his long struggle and life-work with a large measure of satisfaction and feel now that this life-work has been marked with a full measure of achievement.

Resolved, That while the Reverend James P. Hughes thus retires from the acting principalship and active management of the institution, the Board is gratified to know that they will still have the benefit of his services in teaching at the Academy; and in recognition of the honor due him, the Board hereby confers upon him the position of Principal Emeritus of the institution, without any active duties attached to that position.

Resolved, That the Board hereby appoints Mr. James R. Hughes to the office of principal of the Academy upon the termination of the incumbency of that office by his father in June next, upon the terms and under the arrangements previously made with him and his father relative to the management of the Academy.

Resolved, That the above mentioned letter of resignation received from the Reverend James P. Hughes, together with these Resolutions be spread at large upon the Minutes of the Board.

A COLORADO LYNCHING

Pullman Car Porter Hanged by a Howling Mob.

OUTRAGED GRAY-HAIRED WOMAN

Peaceful Element Locked Negro In Court House, But Mob Stormed the Building and Secured Victim—Body Was Riddled With Bullets.

La Junta, Colo., March 26.—W. H. Wallace, a Pullman sleeping car porter, was lynched at 8 o'clock last night in a corner of Court House Square, being hanged to an electric light pole by a howling mob of 4,000 persons, who had been hunting for him all day. After the hanging the body of the negro was riddled with bullets. The prisoner made no resistance to the lynching and died protesting his innocence.

Mrs. Henrietta Miller, a gray-haired woman, aged 67 years, going from Los Angeles, Cal., to Denver to visit relatives, was brutally assaulted in the Santa Fe railway yards here Monday night by a negro porter on a Pullman car running between Denver and La Junta.

After leaving the Chicago limited train here, Mrs. Miller asked a porter whom she met on the station platform where the Denver sleeper was. The man offered to conduct her to the car. After going with him a considerable distance, Mrs. Miller became suspicious and started to return to the station. She was then knocked down by a blow on the head, and after a struggle with her assailant was choked into insensibility. When she regained consciousness about an hour later she crawled back to the station and gave an account of the assault and a description of her assailant. Washington H. Wallace, a Pullman car porter, was arrested in the car of which he had charge. He was identified by Mrs. Miller. Bloodhounds were brought from Canyon City, and they trailed the man who accompanied Mrs. Miller through the yards to the car in which Wallace was found.

Fearing a lynching, Sheriff Farr decided to take the prisoner to Pueblo. When his intention became known the railway employes declared that he could not travel by rail, as they would refuse to operate the train out of La Junta with Wallace on board. The sheriff placed his prisoner in a carriage and started for Sugar City. Meantime an armed party had left La Junta to overtake the sheriff and his prisoner. The carriage was finally overtaken, and Sheriff Farr made no resistance and Wallace did not ask for mercy. The carriage was turned back toward La Junta. A peace element asked the privilege of trying to get a confession from Wallace. This was granted, and the negro was taken into the court house. After half an hour or so the word went out that the court house doors were locked, and that the committee would try to prevent a lynching. Immediately pandemonium reigned. Stones were hurled at the building until every window was broken. Then, with a telegraph pole for a battering ram, the crowd broke in the doors and Wallace was taken out.

A boy was sent up a telegraph pole with a rope. It was thrown over the cross-bar and then dropped into the crowd. A hundred hands grasped it, and in an instant the negro was in the air. Hardly had the boy climbed out of danger, when hundreds of pistols were drawn, and before the negro's body reached the top of the pole it was riddled with bullets and the man was dead.

Sheriff Farr said last night that Wallace steadfastly declared his innocence. But the police claim that when he was arrested there was blood and gray hairs on his clothing and other evidence which convinced them he was the guilty man.

Negro Poisoner Lynched.

Washington, N. C., March 26.—The body of James Walker, the negro who poisoned the whole family of Dr. David T. Taylor, of the state board of medical examiners, was found dangling from the limb of a gum tree on the Greenville road, just outside of the town limits of Washington, early yesterday morning. A man coming to town ran into the body, which hung out over the walking path. Coroner Taylor was summoned, and he empaneled a jury, who brought in a verdict that the negro came to his death by lynching at the hands of unknown parties.

—Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses, "the eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very center of health and the common source of diseases, which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery." "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach," The soundness of of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood,—by the use of the "Discovery" which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a temperance medicine containing no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant.

To Test the Constitutionality of the Poor Corpse Act.

The act of assembly compelling overseers of the poor to ship the bodies of all dead persons to the headquarters of the State Anatomical society when their friends are unable to bear the funeral expenses is to be tested by City Missionary T. P. S. Wilson, of Williamsport, who is backed by a number of prominent and wealthy citizens.

The law has been interpreted by the Williamsport poor board to apply to all cases of deserving and undeserving poor, On several occasions lately citizens have protested, and have contributed liberally of their cans to keep the bodies of respectable poor people from the dissecting knife.

The other night Henry Finnigan, a jeweler, died of consumption. He lived with his mother, who was in sore financial straits. His mother turned to the poor board, asking for a loan until October, when some money due her would be paid, and she could pay back what she had borrowed.

This was refused, and in addition a new trouble arose. The board said unless she could raise the money to bury her son the body would be turned over to the State Anatomical society. It was here that the city missionary stepped in.

SCIENTIFIC TORTURERS.

Some of the Cruelties That Are Perpetrated In Vivisection.

A certain Dr. Casten, wishing to study the effect of massage upon dislocations, deliberately dislocated the limbs of numerous dogs, says Henry C. Merwin in The Atlantic. He published an account of all these experiments, and the following is a fair example of them: "Experiment 8. Poodle dog * * * replaced on the table without chloral. I dislocate his two shoulders. The animal utters screams of suffering. I hold him for twenty minutes with his two shoulders dislocated and the elbows tied together behind his back * * * ."

"Dr. Majendie," relates Dr. Elliston, "in one of his barbarous experiments which, I am ashamed to say, I witnessed, began by cutting out a large round piece from the back of a beautiful little puppy."

Majendie may have been by nature a brutal man, but even he would hardly have done that when he was young in vivisection. * * * In this country we are not quite so cruel as the French or Italians, but we are more cruel than the English, more cruel perhaps than the Germans.

A medical man in Jersey City published an account of some experiments which he made upon dogs—I will not shock the reader by describing them—and of this publication the British Medical Journal of Nov. 15, 1891, said, "It is a record of the most wanton and the stupidest cruelty we have ever seen chronicled under the guise of scientific experiments."

Story of a French Cat.

This cat story comes from Pont Ste. Maxence (Oise), and for such a small place it is an extremely tall tale, says the Paris Messenger. It would appear that a resident in the place, who is an enthusiastic angler, used to keep live bait in a small tank on his premises. The angler also had a cat who naturally was fond of fish, raw or cooked. This being so, his owner covered his tank with wire netting to keep pussy out of temptation.

But the cat knew a trick or two and went to the nearest refuse heap for some fowl giblets which were providentially lying there. These she took to the tank, let them hang into the water from the netting and began fishing on her own account. When the fish nibbled at the bait, puss would catch it with a nimble claw! The angler, noticing the trick, threw the bait away, but half an hour later puss was at it again.

We hardly know which to admire most, the cat's ingenuity or that of the concocter of the story.

Gifts For the Mourners.

Some delver into the musty old records of Harvard has brought to light an amusing provision with which one of the college's eighteenth century friends coupled what was for his time a very generous bequest to the Cambridge university.

Mr. Thomas Brattle was the testator's name, and his interest in Harvard evidently extended to the individual members of its undergraduate body, for after leaving £200, then the equivalent of about $3,000, to the college for its general uses his will gives half a crown to every student belonging to it who should attend his funeral.

Unfortunately no account of Mr. Brattle's obsequies is extant, but there can be little doubt that the occasion was made solemn by the presence of a large number of "chief mourners" and that good wishes for the deceased were generally and feelingly expressed.

Not Reassuring.

"Have—have you any reason to believe that your father will exhibit violence when I ask him for your hand?" inquired the timid youth.

"I have never been present on any of these occasions," replied the lovely girl evasively. "And, to tell you the truth, I have never wanted to be present. I suppose I am foolishly sensitive about these things, but I can't help it. I remember that papa took me to a slaughter house when I was a little girl, and I dreamed about it every night for months afterward."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Inspiration.

A pretty girl boarded a crowded street car in Washington, and a pompous old gentleman arose and gave her a seat.

After some time a number of passengers got out, and the old gentleman sank into the nearest corner with a weary sigh.

"I wouldn't get up again," he murmured, "for an angel." And then, as he caught the eyes of the girl fixed upon him reproachfully, he added quickly, "I mean, madam, for another angel!"—Harper's Magazine.

An Example.

"The chimney is smoking," he said.

"Yes," she retorted; "that's the effect of bad example. Usually the chimney has consideration enough to do its smoking outdoors."

Thus it came about that he finished his cigar on the back porch.—Chicago Post.

ST. PETER'S IN ROME.

It Takes Many Visits to Realize Its Vastness and Splendor.

It is curious to watch the faces of people as they enter the great doors of St. Peter's at Rome and push back the heavy leathern curtains that keep out the noise and the air and find themselves in the presence of the most impressive spectacle on earth, as Byron said:

Majesty,
Power, glory, strength and beauty—all are aisled
In this eternal ark of worship.

It is easy to detect those who have never been there before and those who have become accustomed to its magnitude and gorgeousness. It requires several visits to adjust the vision and the mind to its colossal proportions and brilliant decorations and enable them to realize the vastness and the beauty of the scene. The more frequently you visit St. Peter's cathedral the greater and the more beautiful it becomes, and after a time you are enabled to drink in with complete satisfaction the fullness of its area, its altitude and its magnificence.

The cost of the building up to date has been more than $55,000,000, and the annual expense of maintaining it is about $35,000. An architect and a gang of workmen are always employed.—Rome Letter in Chicago Record-Herald.

Spiders and Alcohol.

A student of natural history had been in the habit of immersing for preservation his different specimens of spiders and ants in bottles of alcohol. He saw that they struggled for a few minutes, but he thought that sensation was soon extinguished and that they were soon free from suffering.

On one occasion he wished to preserve a large female spider and twenty-four of her young ones that he had captured. He put the mother into a bottle of alcohol and saw that after a few moments she folded up her legs upon her body and was at rest. He then put into the bottle the young ones, who, of course, manifested acute pain.

What was his surprise to see the mother arouse herself from her lethargy, dart around and gather her young ones to her bosom, fold her legs over them, again relapse into insensibility until at last death came to her relief and the limbs, no longer controlled by this maternal instinct, released their grasp and became dead! He has never since repeated the experiment, but has applied chloroform before immersion.

The Parsees.

The Parsees are sun worshipers, and it is an interesting sight to see throngs of them on the shore of the bay as the sun rises, apparently from the sea, performing the simple rites of their religion, the fluttering robes showing their fine figures to the best advantage as the day begins. Their religious practices are simple in the extreme, consisting mainly in strict dietary rules and personal cleanliness.

The rigid observance of sanitary laws produces the natural result of perfect health among the adults—large families of active, healthy children and immense numbers of old men, gray bearded, white haired, but erect and princely in their gait and attitude despite the naturally enervating character of the tropical climate.

Hard to Classify.

A local wit was one day discussing the mental incapacity of editors with the late H. C. Bunner.

"Now," said he, "what do you think of this: I used to write serious and comic matter for a certain daily, which paid me $20 a column for the humorous stuff and $10 for the serious. One day the editor asked me to mark my comic things 'C' and my serious stories 'S' with a blue pencil, that he might tell them apart. Wasn't that pretty rough on him?'

"No," replied Bunner, with a smile and a twinkle in his eye, "but it was pretty rough on you."—New York Times.

Recognized.

"You had a piece in the paper this mornin'," said the excited woman, "about my husband keepin' a savage dog. It ain't so."

"Madam," replied the editor, "we didn't mention anybody by name in that item. We said 'a certain man in the west part of town.'"

"That fits him to a T. You might just as well have mentioned his name. Everybody knows he's the certainest man in that part of town, and he's the most contrary."—Chicago Tribune.

The Indigestible Banana.

"Next to pork," says a physician, "bananas are the most indigestible thing a person can eat, and if you will notice you will see them touched very sparingly by people with weak stomachs. If you can digest them, however, and don't mind the offensive odor, they are very nourishing, and one can make a meal on them that is in every way equal to a substantial lunch of bread and meat."

The Only Chances They Have.

"All Joshua wants," said Farmer Corntossel's wife, "is a chance to show what he can do."

"Yes," said the farmer; "I s'pose so. Josh is one of those people who never seem to get a chance to do anything except something they can't do."—Washington Star.

"I would marry that girl but for one thing."

"What's that—afraid to pop the question?"

"No; afraid to question pop."—New York Herald.

As people grow older the worries that formerly affected them only at night begin to stay by them all day.—Atchison Globe.

GOOD LIVING

Is Often a Cause of Bad Health.

That bad health and good living often go together as cause and effect is a proposition which will be accepted at once by any practising physician. Common sense living would demand that we ate only when hungry and that food should be chosen first for its nutritive value and then for its palatableness. So-called "good living" reverses these rules. Meals are taken at stated hours without reference to hunger or physical requirements. If appetite is lacking, stimulating cordials or liquors are often used to induce a false appetite. Food is not chosen with regard to its nutritive value but for its pleasure to the palate. As a natural result the stomach is over-loaded with a quantity of innutritious material and the body is deprived of its due nourishment. Presently disease of the stomach and digestive and nutritive systems begins, frequently involving heart, liver, kidneys and other organs.

THE PROSPERITY OF AMERICA

gives every man the opportunity for good living, and almost every man takes advantage of the opportunity. The average laborer in the United States lives as only very prosperous people can live in Europe. He lives too well. It is a singular thing to say but it is nevertheless a fact that one of the greatest evidences of national prosperity is found in the great army of dyspeptics which is being newly recruited every day in the year by good livers. The great trouble is that when a man wakes up to the fact that his stomach can't be abused with impunity, the damage is already done. He has joined the army of dyspeptics, the people with "weak" stomachs. He can't eat much now without it hurts him. His stomach seems unduly distended after eating. There are bitter risings and belchings, a constant feeling of discomfort and weight in the region of the stomach. Probably, too, the liver becomes sluggish, and there is a feeling of lassitude with headache.

These are only a few of the signs and symptoms of a diseased stomach involving the other organs of digestion and nutrition.

Disease won't cure itself, so that it's folly to neglect treatment thinking "it will be all right again after a time."

Disease never stands still, so that every day's delay in using the right treatment means a worse condition.

"I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia for over two years, and I was a complete physical wreck," writes Mr. Preston E. Fenstermacher, of Egypt, Lehigh Co., Pa. "Had many torturing, gnawing and aching pains,—I think about all that a dyspeptic has or ever could have. I also suffered much with constipation. I tried many different medicines which were recommended to cure the trouble but these only made me worse and my condition was more sluggish and weak than before. My stomach was in such a weak condition that the least and easiest kind of food to digest would get sour in my stomach and I had such a weak and debilitated appearance that it seemed as if I had hardly any blood in my whole body. Muscles were soft and flabby, circulation poor and slow. Suffered greatly from cold hands and feet. At last I came across an advertisement of Dr. Pierce's. I wrote to them for a question list blank which I filled out and returned to them stating my symptoms and pains. To my great surprise I received by return mail the best and most substantial advice that I ever before read. This advice gave me the greatest confidence in the World's Dispensary Medical Association, even so great that I at once left off all former remedies and tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I used about eight vials of the 'Pellets' and ten bottles of the 'Discovery' which brought me back to my former state of health."

"MIGHT IS RIGHT"

not in monopoly but in medicine. The medicine that has the might and power to cure such a diseased condition as Mr. Fenstermacher's is the right medicine to use for the cure of similar forms of disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that the body is built up in nature's own and only way, by food perfectly digested and assimilated. Organs remote from the stomach are often involved with it in disease because of its failure to supply the nutrition on which the strength of each organ depends. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures these diseases of heart, liver, lungs, kidneys and other organs, by curing the cause of disease in the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition.

"I have received more benefit from your medicine than anything I have taken," writes Mrs. N. Bernier, of 461 Elm Street, Oshkosh, Wis. "I had liver complaint for the last fifteen years, complicated with dyspepsia and gall stones. I have doctored with seven of our prominent doctors and not one or all of them have done me the good, nor began to do what your medicines have. I have used three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, one vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets' and one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and have gained about eighteen pounds since I first began to take these remedies. Can say truthfully that your medicine is the best I ever found for liver complaint and dyspepsia."

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Sometimes the dealer tempted by the little more profit paid by less meritorious medicines will offer a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery" claiming that it is "just as good." Substitutes are always suspicious. The only way to be sure of the cure you seek is to get the medicine which cured others—"Golden Medical Discovery."

During the past winter it has been further improved by the laying of inlaid hard wood floors in the drawing room, sitting room, halls and dining room. The floors are very beautiful, the designs being the work of George T. Bush. Oak, chestnut, cedar and walnut are the woods used all of which were obtained in this vicinity having been cut from land in Bush Addition and Half Moon hill owned by the Bush estate.

The vestibule has also been improved by double doors of oak and plate glass of handsome design.

TRIUMPHS OF SCIENCE.

Sensitiveness of the Implements of the Modern Laboratory.

The eye and the ear have long been regarded as marvels of mechanism, quite the most wonderful things in the world. But compared with the implements of a present day laboratory the sensitiveness of all human organs seems gross enough. A photographic plate, coupled with a telescope, will reveal the presence of millions of stars whose light does not affect the retina in the least. The microscope, too, with its revelations of the world of the infinitely small, tells us how crude, after all, is this most delicate of the senses. Indeed, we may liken it to a piano where only a single octave, toward the middle, sounds. From the ultra violet to the lowest reaches of the spectrum is a range of some nine octaves of light vibrations, of which, save for our new mechanical senses, we should never have been conscious of but one.

The ear hears little of what is going on around us. By means of a microphone the tread of a fly sounds like the tramp of cavalry. Our heat sense is very vague. We need a variation of at least one-fifth of a degree on a thermometer to realize any difference in temperature. Professor Langley's little bolometer will note the difference of a millionth of a degree. It is two hundred thousand times as sensitive as our skin.—Carl Snyder in Harper's Magazine.

Falling From a Great Height.

It will be remembered that Mr. Whymper, who had a severe succession of falls once in the Alps, without losing his consciousness, declares emphatically that as he bounded from one rock to another he felt absolutely no pain. The same thing happens on the battlefield. The entrance of the bullet into the body is not felt, and it is not till he feels the blood flowing or a limb paralyzed that the soldier knows he is wounded.

Persons who have had several limbs broken by a fall do not know which limb is broken till they try to rise. At the moment of a fall the whole intellectual activity is increased to an extraordinary degree. There is not a trace of anxiety. One considers quickly what will happen. This is by no means the consequence of "presence of mind." It is rather the product of absolute necessity. A solemn composure takes possession of the victim. Death by fall is a beautiful one. Great thoughts fill the victim's soul. They fall painlessly into a great blue sky.

Drugstore Humor.

A Philadelphia druggist has made the following collection of amusing missives that have been sent to him from time to time:

"I have a cute pain in my baby's stummick. Please give bearer something to cure it."

"My little girl has eat up a lot of buttons. Please send a nemetic by the enclosed boy."

"Dear doctor a dog bit my child on the leg please send some cork plaster and cutter eyes."

"Pleas send by bearer one postal card. Also kindly give bearer, my son, some licorice root."

Deer doctor wot is good for tirefoy fever send some quick I got it."

"Let my Johny have a glas of sody watter. I wud come myself but I am washing. P. S. the 5 cents is for the sody watter."

"If you can fill the enclosed prescription for 25 cents do so. If not return by bearer."

Ants That Strike.

Certain kinds of black ants have little yellow ants which do most of their work for them. Once in awhile these little yellow fellows will go on strike, and the "blacks" try to force them back to work by cutting off their food supply. If that does not succeed, they will attack the strikers in force or make a raid and get another gang of "yellows" into the colony. But the newcomers, as a rule, join the strikers. The strike ends by the "yellows" escaping and founding a colony for themselves, or they give in and settle down to work again.

Safeguarding Himself.

"Are you a detective?" asked Mr. Meekton.

"I am," answered the man with the turndown collar and the white necktie.

"Well, I want to employ you. I want you to get out your false whiskers and your dark lantern and dog my footsteps night and day. Henrietta's gone out of town to visit some relatives, and I don't want her to be obliged to take my word for anything."—Washington Star.

An Improved Neighborhood.

Mrs. Uppish—Just think! It's only six months ago since we moved away from next door to you. We're in a much better neighborhood now.

Mrs. Sharpe—So are we.

Mrs. Uppish—Why, where did you move?

Mrs. Sharpe—Oh, we haven't moved at all.—Philadelphia Press.

EFFECTS OF VIBRATION.

Wounds Have Been Healed by Sound Waves of a Violin.

A man was conveyed to a hospital in Paris suffering from an accident which resulted in a serious wound. This wound refused to heal, and all the various treatments applied to it failed to effect the desired end. The man was attacked from time to time by violent paroxysms, and death appeared certain. At length the surgeon enlisted the services of a good violin player and treated the sufferer to a musical remedy. The patient's paroxysms ceased, and from that time the wound began to heal. The violin playing was continued at intervals till recovery was assured.

In another case the wound continued to suppurate despite all that could be done. The patient was calm and resigned, but nothing could be done for the wound. The violin was called into requisition in this instance also, and the instrument was played close to the injured part, which was bared for the purpose. The surgeon soon observed a change. The wound assumed a healthier appearance, and the process of healing began and progressed rapidly.

It is an undoubted fact that certain vibrations can effect cures, but the vibrations must be strictly in accordance with the malady or nature of the wound. Some enthusiasts go so far as to assert that the character of individuals can be changed by the constant application of the proper vibration.—Pearson's Weekly.

How the Cobra Gives Warning.

The most dangerous reptiles of India and Africa are the cobras. No snakes, not even rattlesnakes, are more dreaded, and with reason. As the rattlesnake warns the ear by its significant "rattle," so the cobras warn the eye by the mode in which they expand the upper part of the body when irritated. This expansion is produced by a sudden movement of the ribs of that region of the body. Usually they incline backward, but the animal when irritated makes them stand out at right angles to the body and so, of course, forces outward the skin which covers them. Thus the neck, or part just behind the head, becomes greatly expanded and flattened, as it also does, though in a less degree, in the Australian blacksnake.

This expansion is called a hood, and so the animals are called hooded snakes. In some of them there is on the back of the hood a dark mark, something like a pair of spectacles, and they have therefore been called spectacle snakes.

HORSES OF VENICE.

Actual Count Increases the Number to Fifteen.

It is a popular joke to say that there are but six horses in Venice, four over the portico of St. Mark's cathedral and two bronze animals of heroic size, one bestrode by Victor Emmanuel and the other by General Colleone. But this is a mistake. There are four other horses, also of bronze, in the Church of St. John and St. Paul, and quite a number of plaster and marble in the different public buildings, making altogether at least fifteen or sixteen. Ruskin and other competent critics have declared the statue of Colleone to be the best equestrian monument ever cast in bronze. It was designed and cast by Andrea Verrocchio, painter, sculptor, jeweler, engraver, poet and musician, a man of infinite genius, whose greatest fame lies in the fact that he was the instructor of the greatest artists of all centuries—Michael Angelo, Raphael and Leonardo da Vinci. The statue of Victor Emmanuel is not so highly thought of.

The horses on the top of St. Mark's are famous and have had a trying experience. They date back to the prehistoric age and are supposed to be the work of a Greek artist named Lysslppus and designed for a sculptured chariot. They were taken to Rome during the empire and first used as ornaments upon a triumphal arch erected by Nero and afterward by Trajan. The Emperor Constantine took them from Rome to Constantinople, where the Doge Dandolo seized them as loot and brought them to Venice. When Napoleon entered the city in 1797, he had them taken down from the roof of the cathedral and shipped them in wagons over the Alps to Paris. They served as ornaments upon the triumphal arch in the Place du Carrousel till 1815, when Emperor Francis I. of Austria redeemed them, and they were replaced, at his expense, where they now stand. These ponderous animals are of pure copper, and each weighs about two tons. They were formerly gilded, but the gold has been worn off by the weather, and the verdigris which has accumulated upon the copper gives them a rich green tint.—William E. Curtis in Chicago Herald.

Workman Digs Up Treasure Hidden by Lewis the Robber.

ALTOONA, March 21.—Tuesday, while engaged in the work of excavating for the new tunnel of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, at Gallitzin, an Italian workman, named Giovanni Patulli, unearthed a pot containing $2,000 in gold and silver, none of which bears a later date than 1835.

Patulli had a hard time to keep the other workmen from getting the treasure, and he is preparing to return to Italy.

It is supposed that the money was secreted there by Lewis, the famous robber, who flourished in this vicinity in the thirties.

Deeds Must Be Recorded.

It does not appear to be generally known that a law was enacted by the Pennsylvania legislature last May by which the holder of an unrecorded deed is liable to lose it for want of record. A Y. M. C. A. Building for Bellefonte.

At the Men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A., Sunday afternoon Gen. James A. Beaver in a short talk, which he gave, made a remark in regard to a mysterious letter, which he carried in his pocket and was about to mail, which might be the means of securing a Young Men's Christian Association Building for Bellefonte. He did not state who the letter was addressed to or what its contents were but asked the prayers of all present that the end desired might be accomplished.

Let us hope that God will answer these prayers in the near future and that the young men of Bellefonte may soon be enjoying the privileges and countless blessings which such a building would bestow.

CLAIR KESSINGER INJURED.

Premature Blast May Result in the Loss of His Right Hand.

Quite a serious accident occurred Friday evening about five o'clock at the McCalmont quarry operated by the American Lime & Lime Stone Company, the head driller at this quarry was preparing to set off a blast and was loading a hole with dynamite. The hole was about fifteen feet deep and while in the act of swabbing it out there was an explosion which drove the stick used clear through the right hand of Kessinger shattering it so that it is feared it will have to be amputated at the wrist.

Kessinger was taken to his home near the glass works and Doctors Harris and Sebring were called to attend him. It was thought best to amputate his hand but he protested so strongly that it was decided to wait until his father arrives today when the matter will be decided.

Kessinger is about 30 years of age and has a wife and two children depending upon him for support.

—During Prof. Killen's absence last week, Mr. Harry Stitt, a junior at Penna State College, took charge of the Higher Mathematical and Science work at the Academy. He proved himself a perfect gentleman and evinced an exceptional ability to impart to the students what he has so well learned himself. He will long be remembered by the faculty and students of the Academy for his genial spirit and thoroughness and clearness in teaching.

FIRE AT LEMONT.

Hard Work of College Students Saves Greater Part of Town from Destruction.

Wednesday evening about half-past seven o'clock fire broke out in a frame building at Lemont owned by John Thompson. The building was occupied by the blacksmith shop of William Miller and the coachmaker shop of John Lucas. The fire spread with great rapidity and soon the tenant house owned by Dr. J. Y. Dale and occupied by A. J. Hassinger was on fire. A high wind prevailed and the sparks fell like snow flakes all over the town. Dr. Dale's barns and several other houses were on fire at different times and for awhile the destruction of the town seemed imminent.

The blaze was easily seen at State College and one hundred and fifty students hastened to the scene and by their timely assistance the citizens succeeded in confining the fire to the Thompson and Dale properties. The students formed a line from the creek to the burning buildings and by means of buckets soon had the fire under control.

The fire started in the second story of the Thompson building and its origin is a mystery.

The blacksmith lost quite a number of valuable tools as did also the coachmaker. Mr. Thompson's loss on the building is $700, with $400 insurance in the agency of George L. Potter.

Mr. Hassinger, who occupied the tenant house, succeeded in removing almost all his furniture. Dr. Dale's loss on the building is about $900, with $375 insurance in the Centre Hall Insurance company.
